TORNADO TEARS PATH THROUGH ILLINOIS CITY

POLICE CORDON GUARDS SLAYER OF TWENTY-SIX

Hosts Electric Chair Will Never Exact Penalty For Crimes

HUNT FOR OTHER KILLER CONTINUES

Ohio and Pennsylvania Are At Odds Over Disposal Of Criminal

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—The boast of Jaworski, bandit, killer and breaker, that he will never die the electric chair, was interpreted as a possible threat by police here.

John Vasbinder, Jaworski's drug addict and gunman alias, as desperate as himself, still at large, authorities were apprehensive of an attack on City hospital where Jaworski is critically wounded.

Thursday, Jaworski killed Patrolman Anthony Wiecek, wounded Patrolman George Effering and a woman, Benjamin Majstrek, before he was himself trapped in a car when the shooting broke.

Jaworski also told officers last night that the remnants of the old "Flathead gang" of which he was the leader, were in town, armed with machine guns and explosives. He unmasked that Vasbinder would lead them in an attempt to kill him.

As a result, a cordon of police had been stationed around the hospital since the day Jaworski was shot. Jaworski is constantly watched by police with their guns ready for instant action. Downstairs wing of the hospital were kept securely locked last night.

Diarmid Guards
Detective Inspector Cornelius later decided to disarm the man who guard Jaworski's cot. He was taking no chances on letting the killer get his hands on a gun.

Jaworski led the "Flathead gang" and it was the terror of Western Pennsylvania. A number of sensational payroll robberies were carried by the gang, among them the $104,000 holdup near Mollers, Pa., when a payroll car was looted.

Jaworski was later captured and arrested. Thirteen months ago, Vasbinder, both under sentence for first degree murder, shot his way out of the Allegheny county jail in Pittsburgh and fled at large until Thursday.

Jaworski's brother, Sam, is now in same prison. He is charged with helping the guns to his brother's jail break.

The survivors of his gang had gathered here, Jaworski says, and were preparing to go to Pittsburgh with machine guns and rifles to get Sam out of jail, when he was captured.

Friction Develops
Friction developed between local authorities and Allegheny county officials last night. The Allegheny men have already consented to continue their efforts to take Jaworski back to Pennsylvania.

It will allow him to go to trial in Allegheny county.

Silver Will Not Dismiss Employees at Headquarters

Workers Are Said To Be Relatives of Anti-Saloon League Officials; Charges Are Made That Coercion Exists

Columbus, Sept. 15.—Announcement that he had no intention of dismissing relatives of anti-saloon leaders who are employed at Republican state headquarters here was made today by Harry D. Silver, chairman of the G. O. P. state campaign committee.

"I see no reason for dismissing them," said Silver. He pointed out that these employees were selected by department heads and that he did not think he should interfere with the plans of his subordinates as long as proper service was being rendered.

These employees are Rand J. Dushman, son of Freeman L. Dushman, editor of the American Live, official publication of the Anti-Saloon League; Miss Florence Moore, daughter of Dr. E. J. Moore, superintendent of the league, and Arthur Evans, Freeman Dushman's son-in-law. Rand Dushman is employed in the publicity department, Miss Moore is doing stenographic and clerical work, and Evans is aiding in the work of the G. O. P. state organizations among Ohio war veterans, it was stated.

Silver today replied to a letter received from State Senator George H. Bender, Cleveland, in which Bender asked Silver to deny the report that Miss Moore, Dushman and Evans were employed at Republican state headquarters.

Bender stated that such employment would constitute "a colossal blunder" and declared that such a situation "would appear to be a slap in the face of Congressmen James T. Begg and his friends." Begg was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and failed to receive the support of Superintendent Moore and Editor Dushman.

Silver wrote Bender that officials of the Anti-Saloon League did not request him to appoint anyone to positions in the state headquarters. He said that any inference that such employment was for the purpose of gaining the league's approval for the G. O. P. state ticket was "not well founded."

Presented to the club by President R. S. McCulloch, Markley discussed the aims and objects of Rotary, placing much emphasis on the golden rule and on the sixth object of Rotary International—goodwill among nations of the world.

He spoke for the work Rotary clubs are doing for boys, for crippled children and for the community in many ways and urged that each Rotarian be a man "so that your son will want to follow your example."

"True success," he said, "is not found in fame, fortune or wealth. A man who is a good citizen is successful because a good name is rather to be sought than riches and great wealth."

Markley complimented the Salem club for the work it is doing and has done. Friday afternoon he went to Sebring to speak before the Sebring Rotary club in the evening.

Dr. Lambert issued 1000 copies of the program in which he stated: "The purpose of this two-day meeting, to be devoted to detail rules, study and interpretation as well as officiating procedure, is to develop further and in greater uniformity the 450 men who officiated at one or more high school or college football games last year on Ohio. Each rule will be studied in complete detail so that the instruction will be both elementary and advanced."

The meeting will also attempt to create a better feeling and co-operation among the members of the Ohio conference, including the "Big Six." It is hoped. Discard has been reported in the relations between these colleges during the last few years, and an effort is being made to remedy it.

ROTARY'S CHIEF IS HONOR GUEST OF SALEM CLUB

Jos. Markley, Governor of 21st District, Speaks Here Friday

Joseph Markley of Canton, governor of the 21st Rotary district, was the guest of the Salem Rotary club at its meeting Friday at the Elks home. The occasion was his official visit as district governor and before the meeting he held a conference with the club officers and committee chairmen.

Presented to the club by President R. S. McCulloch, Markley discussed the aims and objects of Rotary, placing much emphasis on the golden rule and on the sixth object of Rotary International—goodwill among nations of the world.

He spoke for the work Rotary clubs are doing for boys, for crippled children and for the community in many ways and urged that each Rotarian be a man "so that your son will want to follow your example."

Willow Grove Group Holds Friday Meet

"What it takes to make a house a home" was the roll call response at a meeting of Willow Grove grange Friday evening at the hall, southwest of Salem.

A discussion on "Roadside Marketing and Tourist Trade" puzzles and conundrums helped make the meeting interesting. The Juvenile grange entertained with a song.

The juveniles held a meeting and Nelson Conrad told of his trip to Columbus. Constance Morgan gave a reading and the roll call response was "Which Season Do You Like Best?"

Sanctioning of calls for ministers at the Presbyterian churches of Leetonia and Canton will be sought at the fall meeting of Mahoning Presbytery, to be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the Christian Neighborhood house at Campbell, formerly known as East Youngstown.

Each Presbyterian church in Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Stark counties will be represented by its pastor and one elder.

Democracy's First Lady Registers

Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, of Albany, N. Y., is to cast her most important ballot at the November elections, and that's probably the reason she was one of the first of her sex to register. She is pictured here registering in office of Thomas Sheehan, clerk of the board of elections of New York.

Al Smith Plans Many Stops During Tour Of Grain Area

Follows Wishes of His Campaign Directors; Changes Route of Entire Trip By Adding Stops; To Make Kansas Speeches

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Albany, N. Y., Sept. 15.—Governor Smith broadened the scope of his western tour today. Instead of stopping only at the half dozen large cities of the west where he is scheduled to deliver major speeches the Democratic nominee will stop as well at a score of smaller towns in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Colorado. The wheat farmers of Kansas and the oil workers of Oklahoma all will have an opportunity to see—and possibly hear—the New York governor.

The itinerary of the governor's western tour has been completely revised. None of the major dates has been changed, but there has been added a score of stops for his special train which were not contained in the original schedule made public ten days ago.

Governor Smith has yielded to the importunities of his campaign managers, that there is a real chance of striking a telling blow in the grain belt and the re-vamped schedule is the result.

Governor Smith will make three stops in Nebraska, 14 in Kansas, three in Oklahoma, and four in Colorado, under the revised schedule announced today.

Kansas is the native state of Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee. It is traditionally Republican, being one of the great grain belt states that returned a really handsome majority for the Coolidge-Dawes ticket in 1924. Yet, the Democrats cannot forget that Woodrow Wilson carried it in 1912, and again in 1916.

The heavy schedule arranged for Governor Smith throughout the length and breadth of the Sunflower state indicates that the Democrats do not believe that Kansas is as hopeless as may appear on the surface. At any rate they are unwilling to give it up without a battle. Governor Smith will spend three-quarters of an hour in Senator Curtis' home town of Topeka.

The governor spent today working on details of his trip and in cleaning up various odds and ends of state business, for from now until November 6, Albany will see him only for a few days at a time. As Governor Smith, himself expressed it, "The governorship of New York is out of the window for the balance of the campaign."

Rockford Struggles To Rise From Tons Of Twisted Debris

Twenty-three are Known Dead with Possible Increases In Casualty List As Ruins Are Searched

Death, disease, destruction and desolation were the gaunt four horsemen riding in the wake today of one of the worst storms in the history of the country.

Twenty-three are known dead and the possibility is the total may reach 50 lives, millions of dollars in property damage, thousands homeless, disease, privation, misery and famine.

Seventeen persons lost their lives in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota yesterday before there swept into Rockford, Ill., a howling wind maelstrom which shook the city in its merciless grasp leaving behind scenes of chaos.

Eight industrial plants collapsed burying an unknown number of workers. Six are known to be dead and 15 buried beneath tons of twisted steel and mortar. Twelve hundred are homeless.

Tens of thousands are homeless in Porto Rico following a tornado, the worst in many years. Frantic calls for aid have been sent out by the governor of the island to avert threatened famine and disease. No deaths have been reported but because of impaired wire facilities remote places in the island have been unable to communicate with San Juan.

While Rockford and Porto Rico still staggered under the gigantic stroke of nature, hundreds in the middle west attempted today to rehabilitate themselves following the wind storm of early yesterday.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 15.—The spectre of famine is stalking through the streets of this city today adding its dread to the dire plight of thousands made homeless by the worst tropical storm ever suffered by Porto Rico.

Continued torrential rains since the passing of the wind are spilling whatever stores of food remained after the tornado's visitation in addition the water supply of the city is badly disorganized and in some sections not functioning at all.

It is feared that these conditions may cause disease among the homeless victims of the storm. According to Thomas E. Bender, chancellor of the University of Porto Rico, the meager food supply on hand, which was last night's visitation, is in eable dispatches to the United States he entreated immediate aid from all sources.

The tornado, now sweeping northward, may hit the coast of Florida today it is feared. Several vessels in its path have not been heard from, but officials of the companies owning them are not anxious. However, there is some anxiety for the safety of Franz Romer, the German seaman, who crossed the Atlantic in a canoe and is now enroute from the city to Florida in his frail craft.

OFFICIAL LAUDS ROADS PROGRAM

Columbiana county draws Praise of State Engineer

That the improved highway program of Columbiana county as designed three years ago, and which is now in the last stage of completion is attracting attention of officials of other counties was disclosed this week when officials of Summit and Ashland counties toured Columbiana county as guests of State Division Engineer L. A. Breen and County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk.

County Surveyor Sauer of Summit county and County Surveyor Liggett of Ashland county were members of the party, while County Commissioner O. R. Beckwith of Ashland county was at Lisbon attending the county fair he also made a journey over a number of the new county roads.

Sixteen photographs showing road work in this county "before" and "after" completion, and exhibited by the State Highway Department at the State fair have been returned to L. H. Johnson, commissioner's clerk.

"I consider them the finest collection of highway pictures I have seen, and we thoroughly appreciate your permitting us to display them with our state fair exhibit," Chief Engineer Robert S. Beighler wrote the commissioners. "You may be interested in learning that this group of pictures attracted wide attention and much favorable comment," the letter closed.

The entire group of photographs have been placed on a wall in the commissioners office.

BRITAIN'S EYES ON US

Has the United States strengthened its moral leadership of the world which it established something like a decade ago? The answer to the question may be found in the acid test of the real value of the peace compact which Secretary Kellogg signed at Paris.

It also is suggested that the United States itself is in a much better position to furnish a reply to the question than any or all of the European nations, which, while not unaware that American initiative has been able to crystallize the common aspirations of mankind, do not forget that diamonds in the rough may not always turn out to be gems of purest ray serene.

The controversies which already have sprung up in the United States over the Kellogg treaty from partisan points of view are reacting rather unsatisfactorily upon European opinion.

It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that following upon the spiritual union which the ceremony at Paris conveyed to the souls of men, there is in their minds a sense of incompleteness, a regretful recognition that the paradise of peace has not yet been assured to them and their children and their children's children. It is for such an assurance that their eyes now are turned to the League of Nations.

Dean Inge, in a sermon a week ago at Geneva, put this feeling in a sentence when he said the crux of the whole problem of peace was whether the League of Nations would offer the world security against any nation which might choose to break the league covenant.

Perhaps the league may never be able to bring about that desirable consummation, but it can be said to be moving in that direction, although at times having its hands full trying to make some belligerent member observe the tenets of the covenant. The steps which the league is making toward such a peace necessarily are slow and hesitant, and guided by the practical consideration that not faith alone but good works are required for salvation, and that evil-doers must, if necessary, be taught the error of their ways.

The United States, by maintaining an absolute independence of thought and action, insofar as the League of Nations is concerned, nevertheless has contributed a most powerful weapon to the cause of world peace through the Kellogg pact. European nations which have been trying for years to get Uncle Sam as a member of the League of Nations, and having failed, plainly showed their temper, today admit openly that the Washington government has not been content to sit idle in splendid isolation, but has come to the front repeatedly with suggestions for world security which it has been impossible to pass up.

The suggestion has been made that there is a joker in the Kellogg peace pact, but here it may be stated emphatically that Great Britain's common sense would under no circumstances tolerate an agreement with France which could be disagreeable to America. That the London foreign office blundered by allowing the impression to get abroad that there had been anything more than a well-meaning attempt to establish a basis of technical agreement between Great Britain and France on certain propositions to be submitted for the consideration of other powers, is, doubtless, the only aspect of the affair which will be remembered in the long run.

There is in England very little of that sentimental sympathy for France which colors American thought of the sister republic, and British diplomacy will tread very warily when the question of evacuation of the Rhineland is brought upon the carpet, as it soon will be.

The people who are buying those expensive trick machines for exercising probably would scream in anguish if handed a lawn mower and asked to do some constructive exercise.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

What Others Say

A MERITED HONOR

Election of Charles Evans Hughes as a member of the World court must be interpreted as a personal compliment to the eminent international statesman. In view of the refusal of the United States to join the League of Nations and its subsequent abstention from the World court itself the election of an American can scarcely be considered in the light of a compliment to this nation. Nor is it likely that the nations which favored the election of Hughes were animated by any desire to wheedle or flatter the American republic.

The day of cajolery are past. There is next to no hope in Europe or American reconsideration. The American attitude is generally misunderstood and almost universally regretted. Perhaps it would be more nearly accurate to say that American suspicion, and the statesman who are most prominent in the advocacy of the League of Nations and the World court feel that this suspicion is unworthy.

For years it was hoped that continued manifestations of patient friendliness might produce some effect. Now Europe and South America profess indifference. It is the only profession compatible with the national pride of powers which have been snubbed.

Therefore the election of Mr. Hughes is a wholly personal choice. He is elected not because he is an American, but rather in spite of this fact. He is elected because his record as an international statesman indicates his pre-eminent fitness for the post. He is elected because it is the world's desire to make the World court as strong and efficient a tribunal as possible. Magnanimity and wisdom have thus combined to bring Charles Evans Hughes perhaps the greatest distinction of his very distinguished public career.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, Sept. 16.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is under the rulership of the indomitable Mars, inciting to deeds and thoughts of valor and initiative in many directions. New plans of a bold and adventurous nature may be safely elaborated under this energizing planetary sway. Guard against duplicity in personal relations.

Those whose birthday it is are under the prospect of a year of enterprise and initiative with leanings toward large and bold undertakings. Employment is under beneficent rule but in purely personal relations be on guard against duplicity. A child born on this day may be resourceful, enterprising and courageous as well as in employment.

First essay to stuff the mind with solid bracers, then march on gallant.—Herbert.

For Monday, Sept. 17.

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for turmoil and turbulence as well as for incidents of craft and subtlety, with many peculiar angles. While new ventures have some benign aspects yet the danger to finances entails extreme precaution in all undertakings. Shun all speculative ventures.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which peculiar situations of a subtle nature may arise. While new projects may be taken under advisement yet finances are in danger and speculation of every character should be avoided. Beware duplicity from every angle. A child born on this day may have some subtle or irregular characteristics and may likewise incline toward rash and tempestuous behavior, unless given early discipline.

overwork, and all other varieties of excesses which make for heart disease.

I believe, in football, handball, tennis, rowing, running, jumping and all sorts of track work. But violent sports, in which tremendous heart action is demanded, should not be indulged in without knowing the state of the heart of the student who engages in them.

Keene Fitzpatrick is a very old friend of mine and I say truly that I believe Keene has done more to develop straight thinking than any college president of modern times. This statement is made with humble apologies to the teaching profession, but with conviction of soul that it is true.

Straight thinking depends on a clean mind and a clear brain. Nobody can have these without a clean body. To have a perfect body there must be systematic training of the whole man. It is that training Keene has done through these many years.

The farmer boy leaves home to go to the city. After a couple of years of the softness and self-indulgence of urban life, he goes home at harvest time. The temptation of the occasion and the "dares" of his old associates send him into the harvest field to pitch hay or bundles of grain.

His heart has grown flabby. Without systematic daily exercise, he is in no condition to put this terrible strain on the softened organ. Two hours of this exercise will do such damage to his heart as to make him an invalid—for months, if not for life.

The heart will not tolerate such treatment. Never rush into violent sports or activities. Break in gradually. Then you will be safe and your heart will gradually assume strength and powers of resistance.

In the old days of misdirected, physical activities in college it was not uncommon for the graduate to find himself a poor insurance risk. It is discouraging, indeed, to be famous as a college athlete and then have to suffer the rest of one's days with an athletic heart.

The way to deal with these cases is never to have them. Supervision of college athletics is just as important as supervision of college studies.

I am sure my college president friend will agree with me.

POLICE

here. In return, Prosecutor Edward Stanton, of Cleveland, has tacitly agreed that if the gunman is not convicted and sentenced to the electric chair after his trial here, he will be returned to Pennsylvania.

Last night, Assistant District Atty. Andrew Park of Allegheny county, asked Police Chief Jacob Graul for permission to question Jawarski about the Mollenau robbery. Graul replied that in his opinion the Pennsylvania officials "didn't get much information from Jawarski" when they had him. He also criticized them for failing to take photographs and Bertillon records of Vashinder, a convicted murderer.

Don't Like Attitude

"I don't particularly like your attitude towards us," Park said. "Safety Director Ed Barry entered the dispute at this point. 'If you people don't like our attitude then none of you are going to see him,' Barry asserted. 'We don't need any help from Allegheny county.'"

After his speedy indictment yesterday, Jawarski was to be arraigned in the hospital, by Judge Walter McMahon, today. If he pleads not guilty to the charge of "murdering a policeman," his trial date will be set at about Oct. 15, Judge McMahon said.

Four employees of the Detroit News who came here yesterday in an attempt to identify Jawarski in connection with the News payroll helper, failed to recognize him. Jawarski first admitted, then denied participation in this robbery.

When told that his sister, Mrs. Lucille Logan, of Detroit, was coming here to see him, Jawarski did not seem particularly pleased. He said he would rather not be bothered by visits from relatives.

Reward Not Sought

John Zaworsky, an old acquaintance of Jawarski's when they both lived in Butler, Pa., who recognized him in a little East Side restaurant Thursday and telephoned police, has made no effort to claim the $5,000 reward offered for his capture. Chief Graul says he thinks Zaworsky is entitled to the reward.

A similar reward has been offered for Vashinder's capture. Police have received a number of "tips" concerning him whereabouts, but all have proved false. Jawarski said Vashinder was the man who fled the restaurant when the gun battle started. Thursday, Lt. Edie denied this. Police believe, however, that Vashinder has been in the city and they are attempting to find the place where he and Jawarski lived.

Jawarski's condition was reported unchanged today. Patrolman Edie is recovering, while Benjamin Majstrek, the bystander, who was struck by one of Jawarski's bullets, intended for a policeman, is still in critical condition. Patrolman Wiczkorek's funeral is to be held Tuesday.

RELIEF RECORDS NOT AVAILABLE

Postal Authorities Blocked In Attempt to Get Evidence

Pittsburgh, Sept. 15.—Blocked in their efforts to seize the records of the National Relief committee and the Western Relief committee, known also as the Pennsylvania-Ohio Miners Relief committee and the Western Pennsylvania Miners Relief committee, the United States district attorney's office and postal authorities here prepared to secure an amended order from federal court directing Alfred Wagenknecht, relief director, to produce the books of the organization before the grand jury in Erie next week.

Judge P. P. Schoonmaker issued a subpoena duces tecum at the request of the United States attorney, John D. Meyer, following which postal authorities seized the relief committee's headquarters and gathered two mail sacks full of records. Meantime counsel for the committee was busy, however, and persuaded Judge Schoonmaker to withdraw the writ, pointing out that the grand jury was not in session.

The postal authorities are investigating charges of alleged violation of postal regulations.

Wagenknecht issued a statement today scoring Postal Inspector George V. Craighead's tactics, claiming that the complaint against his organization originated with the United Mine Workers. He said the work of the relief committee had been "open and above board."

WALLENSTEIN TO HAVE NEW TRIAL

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—Sidney Wallenstein, dapper young auto salesman, who is alleged to have killed his young divorced wife, Mary Wilson, former Pittsburgh cloak model, last June 25, today awaited in county jail, while arrangements went forward for a new trial. The jury which heard his first murder trial was dismissed last yesterday when it failed to agree on a verdict.

Wallenstein is alleged to have shot and killed his former wife when he found her in a fashionable east side apartment with another woman and two men.

Many Homeless

Twelve hundred people are homeless. It is a bitterly ironic phase of the catastrophe that these homeless ones are deprived, by a single ruthless stroke, of both shelter and livelihood, since most of them are workers in the factories near their homes.

The number of injured was estimated by authorities today at 200. Property damage, at first believed to amount to $25,000,000 is actually only $5,000,000 a check today showed.

Three hundred homes were either whirled into gaunt wreckage or flattened down like pancakes by the fantastic whim of the whirlwind.

Those who are dead are Everett Cornmesser, 15; his cousin, Bernard, 14, and Virgil, 16; George Fagerberg, Tony Martinkas and John Brunski.

Eugene Cornmesser, 12-year-old brother of Bernard and Virgil, was with the other three boys when a house-roof suddenly settled on them as they walked along the street.

He wasn't even scratched

"I didn't see anything coming and didn't know what had hit us," the boy said. "The air seemed to be full of flying wood. I scrambled out, but the others lay still. I ran and got help."

"Why did we ever come here?" meant Mrs. Oma Cornmesser, mother of Everett. The family had just moved here from Iowa.

The other mother Mrs. John Cornmesser, doubly bereft sat stunned in her house in the heart of the stricken area.

Martinkas was a farm hand. His body was found near a barn in the path of the storm.

Fagerberg's body was lifted from the ruins of a chair factory. Brunski was also a factory worker. He died in a hospital from his injuries.

Uses Knife

Ironton, O., Sept. 15.—With Mrs. Ada Morris, Canada Hollow, Ky., in a serious condition at a local hospital, suffering from knife wounds alleged to have been administered by her husband, William Morris, authorities today were preparing proceedings whereby the man will be returned to a state hospital for the insane from which it is claimed he was recently discharged.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER GUILTY

Second Degree Verdict Is Found By Jury After Trial

Pittsburgh, Sept. 15.—Fayette J. Tyrrell, Sunday school teacher who shot Philip Clark, husband of his stenographer to death in the First Christian church, Minhall, Pa., last May, was found guilty of second-degree murder by a jury verdict returned as criminal court convened here today.

The conviction carries with it a 12 to 20 year sentence under Pennsylvania law. Tyrrell drew a revolver and shot Clark to death in the church because he said he feared Clark sought his life. Tyrrell was acting as attorney for Mrs. Clark in a divorce suit then pending. Mrs. Clark came to his defense in his five-day trial.

School Report Given By Sebring Official

Sebring, O., Sept. 15.—School Superintendent S. H. Pollock announced the final teacher assignments for the city's schools Friday and issued a complete report on the system's enrollment. He said that half-day sessions were being held at South Side school because of the large number of pupils. One hundred and fifty-three are attending classes at this building.

WOMEN'S POLITICAL QUESTION BOX

Q.—What salary is paid the president?

A.—At present, the president's salary is $75,000 a year. In addition, $25,000 is allowed for travel. Appropriations for the upkeep of the White House, and for secretaries, clerks and other routine expenses, amount to about $300,000 a year.

Q.—Are women less inclined to vote than men?

A.—The precise voting percentage of women as compared with men cannot be ascertained. But such data as we have shows that the record of women is worse than that of her brothers. In Illinois, in 1920, 74.7 per cent of the eligible men voted in the presidential election, and only 46.6 per cent of the eligible women. In Philadelphia in 1925 there were 307,652 votes cast by men and 119,690 by women. In Los Angeles in 1926 voting men numbered 119,384, and the women numbered 95,111. These statistics represent three different sections of the nation.

Q.—Do the voters really elect the president?

A.—Yes. Since 1800 the president has been elected by the people, although the constitution calls for his choice by an electoral college. This electoral college has become a mere rubber stamp. The political parties nominate candidates, the voters at the polls record their choice, and the electors cast their ballots in accordance with the will of the voters.

'There are leaders---and there are trailers

IN EVERY gathering you can pick them out—the people whose clothes are always in style, who drive smart cars, furnish their homes with taste, entertain artistically. They are the leaders. They don't seem to spend any more money than their neighbors and yet, they undoubtedly set the pace.

And at the other end of the line, you can pick the trailers. They are the people who are always a little out of step. They are the last to hear that styles have changed—the last to learn of new housekeeping methods or improvements in automobiles. They think "Remember" is the latest song hit, and are planning to get "Main Street" out of the library.

What is it that makes the difference between front-rank and rear-rank families? Temperament partly, of course. But the real answer is that one group chooses to keep posted while the other is willing to remain in ignorance.

It is just as certain that the leaders in any social set read the advertising columns and take advantage of their suggestions as it is that the tail-enders do not.

The advertisements tell you how to get the most out of life.

MAN ARRESTED IN DEATH CASE

Sheriff Takes Action In Ottawa Murder Mystery

Ottawa, O., Sept. 15.—The first arrest in an effort to clear the mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Mary Hemler, 20, of Gilboa, was announced here today by Sheriff Clinton Felkey. The man under arrest is Oscar McCamey, 26, said to have been the lover of the dead woman, and a resident in the home of her father, William Drumm. No charges have been placed against McCamey.

McCamey, according to Sheriff Felkey, lived at the Drumm home in Gilboa, where Mrs. Hemler had kept house for her father since her separation from her husband. McCamey was arrested last night but so far has maintained he has no knowledge of the girl's death.

Mrs. Hemler's body was found in Blanchard river, by a swimmer. Coroner Buel declared the woman had died from a broken neck and her body thrown into the river. He rendered a verdict of homicide, and declared his belief that the fracture indicated the girl had been choked.

According to Sheriff Felkey, McCamey can account for his actions on the day of the girl's death except five hours from 5 to 10 p. m.

Sheriff Felkey declared that Mrs. Hemler had intended to visit Findlay lake this week to attend her mother through an illness and that McCamey had objected to her leaving the Drumm residence at Gilboa.

The sheriff is working on the theory that two men have knowledge of the manner of the girl's death, and that one or both were acquainted with the territory about the Drumm home, as the Drumm residence where the girl was last seen alive is 400 feet from the river and behind a highway over which the body must have been carried if she died in the kitchen where she was preparing supper just before she met her death.

McCamey attended the girl's funeral Thursday, and according to reports, seemed highly nervous and ill at ease.

Detective Pleads Not Guilty When Charged In Death

Cleveland, Sept. 15.—Thomas Lear, 49, railroad detective, formerly of Coshocton, today pleaded not guilty when arraigned in common pleas court here on a first degree murder indictment, charging him with shooting his wife.

The Cuyahoga county grand jury returned the indictment against him late yesterday. Following his arraignment this morning the date for his trial was set at Oct. 8.

Lear is alleged to have shot and killed his wife at their home here Aug. 2, wounded his stepson, Frank Myers, and then attempted suicide by shooting himself through the body. The shooting followed an argument between Myers and Lear when the former asked his stepfather for money, according to police. Mrs. Lear is reported to have interceded in her son's behalf.

Both Lear and Myers recovered from their wounds and Lear was lodged in the county jail. He was held without bond after his arraignment today.

Prominent Marion Man Succumbs To Extended Illness

Marion, O., Sept. 15.—Funeral arrangements were being completed today for Martin Mickley, 55, district manager of the Logan Gas company and prominently connected with the Marion county Democratic organization who died at his home here following a month's illness.

Mickley had been connected with the Logan Gas company for 25 years and had long been a foremost leader in the city's civic affairs, having served as president of the city board of education, safety director and president of the Y. M. C. A. He also at one time filled the post of chairman of the Democratic central committee.

Services and interment will take place Monday morning.

Duncan Sisters Feature Theatre Bill Next Week

Greta Garbo in "The Mysterious Lady" and the famous Duncan sisters in their great stage success "Topsy and Eva" are the feature screen plays scheduled for Salem theaters in the coming week.

These pictures are the leading films booked for the week; following very close in importance are Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes in "Three Ring Marriage," Johnny Hines in "The Wright Idea," and Tom Mix in "Hello Cheyenne."

"Topsy and Eva" play the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The picture is the glorification of vitality, youth, and genius as personified by Rosetta and Vivian Duncan, whose triumphs in the play on the stage are marked from coast to coast. The screen adaptation of their famous stage play is their first appearance as film actresses.

At the State Monday and Tuesday appear the Hughes-Astor combination in "Three Ring Marriage," a genuine story with the flavor of the sawdust ring, circus lemonade, clowns, bareback riders—adventures of the big top with thrills of the underworld thrown in.

Miss Astor portrays the part of a daughter of a rich ranch owner who falls in love with a cowboy, Lloyd Hughes. Hughes is fired from his job because of their romance and joins a circus. Miss Astor follows him, also joins another circus, and they meet in an impressive and thrilling climax.

Greta Garbo and Conrad Nagel share leading honors in "The Mysterious Lady." Miss Garbo is detailed by one country to force Nagel, high officer in the ranks of another country, to fall in love with her and disgrace him. She succeeds, but falls in love with him. Nagel, the victim of the espionage machine, operated by Gustav von Seiffertitz, goes out to revenge himself on the girl-spy, but is captured by the enemy and his life saved by the spy. The plot is laid in the rival countries of Russia and Austria, and a thrilling romance is woven into the gripping drama of nations warring with bloodless but deadly tools of espionage and intrigue.

Johnny Hines is presented as a yacht by an insane millionaire who doesn't own the yacht himself, gets into complications over some missing bonds, then gets into trouble about the ownership of the yacht, and last falls in love with Louise Lorraine, leading lady of the picture. Quite a mess of trouble—but Johnny vindicates himself in a romantic and hilarious manner and wins the lass.

The title of the Hines feature is "The Wright Idea" and it appears at the State, Friday and Saturday.

"Hello Cheyenne" is at the Grand the last three days of the week. Tom Mix, his wonder horse Tony, and Carol Lincoln are the stars. The atmosphere of the show is according to Mix, western to extremes, with Mix getting into the proverbial gun battles, troubles, falling into the usual traps to be saved by Tony and Miss Lorraine.

"And they lived happily ever after."

The complete program for the week follows:

STATE
Monday and Tuesday—"Three Ring Marriage," comedy and News, China.

Wednesday and Thursday—"Mysterious Lady," comedy and News.

Friday and Saturday—"The Wright Idea," and Fables.

GRAND
Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday—"Topsy and Eva" and comedy.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday—"Hello Cheyenne," serial, comedy.

LINDSEY PLANS WELFARE HOUSE

Former Juvenile Judge Wants Solution Of Divorce Evils

Denver, Sept. 15.—Ben B. Lindsey, former judge and originator of the Denver juvenile court, plans, according to his announcement, a House of Human Welfare. The purpose of the institution will be to solve all divorce evils and heal the marital ills of humanity.

The buildings, for which definite plans have been initiated, will cost approximately $1,500,000. Architects' drawings have been completed and donations have been called for. Lindsey made the first contribution. It was a gift of $47,500, the amount that he was charged with receiving from the famous W. E. D. Stokes case and around which his disbarment proceedings are under way in the Denver Bar association.

Petition To Legislature
Lindsey plans to petition the state legislature to pass a law requiring all prospective divorce applicants to first apply to his "House of Human Welfare" before they be allowed to enter the courts. He explained that proceeding there would not be to punish, but to educate youth and solve marital problems.

Lindsey does not plan to limit his work to Denver alone. Through lectures and the press he plans to establish the idea throughout the

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Relishes know no special season but are made of ingredients suitable to the season's service. Relishes are either hot or cold according to season and choice. The canape, which is an hors d'oeuvre, is in a class of its own and we meet it both hot and cold, but always a favorite. There are many ways of making the canape. The sippet, on which the canape is founded, may be either toasted or sauted. Occasionally plain bread rounds are used, brown, whole wheat or white as the case may be. Butter should be creamed and seasoned with lemon or onion juice, softened with anchovy or sardine paste or white mayonnaise, according to the filling used on top.

Tomato and Anchovy Canapes
Sauté the bread rounds in melted butter or oil. Select small firm tomatoes and with a sharp knife cut in thin slices. Butter the bread rounds lightly with anchovy paste, lay on a slice of tomato that has been dipped, and drained, in heavy French dressing. Top the tomato with a slice of deviled egg and put a curled anchovy in the center.

Mushroom Canapes
Wipe a small sauce pan with a cut bud of garlic then melt a spoonful of butter. Peel and wipe a half pound of fresh mushrooms, cut the flaps in small pieces and chop the stems fine. Sauté the mushrooms in the butter, adding a little salt and pepper and a few drops of lemon juice. Make a rich cream sauce, drain the mushrooms and put into the cream. When cool spread bread rounds, first placing a ring of raw onion on the outer edge of the bread. Heap higher in the centers, dust with a little chopped olive and sprinkle with a little paprika, serve as soon as ready to they do not soften.

Shrimp Canapes
Chop fine enough fresh watercress to make a tablespoonful and mix it with a heaping tablespoonful of butter, creamed with a little white mayonnaise. When blended add a few drops of onion juice, a little red pepper, and a saltspoonful of sugar. Spread the toast rounds with the butter mixture. With a sharp knife clean the shrimp and split them down the backs. Lay as many open on the round as may be fitted, tuck tiny little bunches of the cress all around the edge, brush over with mayonnaise, top with sliced stuffed olives and dust with a little paprika.

Hot Relishes
There are many hot relishes. Boil a pound and a half of fresh codfish and when cold remove skin, bone and flake coarsely. Make a good drawn butter, adding to it juice of an onion, two tablespoonfuls of capers, a tablespoonful of minced red pepper and parsley mixed. Serve hot in paper ramekins with a spray of fresh cress over each serving. Hot cheese souffle may be made to fill small ramekins and be served in them.

United States and in many foreign countries.

I have dreamed for years of this project," he said. "I hope that it will not long remain visionary. I have 25 years of usefulness left in me—perhaps 30—and I say to you that before those years have passed I will see a House of Human Welfare in every state in this union and in many foreign countries."

The new project, according to Lindsey's plans, will be a sequence to the companionate marriage theory that he claims is in practice now and which he attempted to legalize. Lindsey mentioned his plans several months ago from the pulpit of one of Denver's churches when he outlined a "Temple of Venus."

Save Money and Homes
In explaining his expectations of the result of the "House of Human Welfare," Lindsey said:

"At least half of the discordant couples will change their minds instead of their mates, as they do now in the divorce courts of Denver."

"Something scientific and constructive must be put in their place in the interests of the permanency of the American home."

"Divorce courts in the city of Denver are costing the people $2,000,000 annually. Their work could be done in the 'House of Human Welfare' for $50,000."

A Fashion Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCIFFE

She Tells About a Fascinating Dinner Dress.

MRS. JONES came into the shop the other day with a sad, troubled look in her eye. "I want a simple dinner dress," she said. "Something dark and cool and summery—but not a printed chiffon. I'm tired to death of them."

Which gave Madame what is known as pause. To find a dress that is dark and cool and summery and not a print is really doing something in these days of figured sheer fabrics. But Madame never admits defeat—not when there is the shadow of a sale in view.

So, just to stall around until she could think of something that might fit the bill, she had me model dresses that were dark or were cool or were summery—but not all together. Then suddenly, where there had been worry behind her eyes, there was delight.

A large number of Leetonia residents attended the Columbiana county fair held at Lisbon. On Thursday the schools were dismissed to allow the pupils to attend. Free tickets were also given to the pupils and a large number took advantage of the opportunity to attend. It has been two years since the Leetonia schools closed for the fair. Last year, owing to the epidemic of infantile paralysis it was thought best not to allow the children to attend.

Primitive Sister, Says
Psychiatrist

DR. ABRAHAM A. BRILL

NEW YORK. — Theorists who believe that the ladies who trip off to jobs every morning are forerunners of a changing civilization; who insist that woman's emancipation must, perforce, mean something like a matriarchy in the not too distant future, got a slap on the wrist when Dr. Abraham A. Brill, eminent psychiatrist, took issue with all of their pet ideas—flatly, forcefully and fundamentally.

There are some of the questions which brought forth Dr. Brill's vigorous statement:

"Is woman as a wage-earner a sign of civilization?"

"Must the state instead of the family care for her children?"

"Will this mean a reversion to a primitive era?"

"Is man or woman the superior?"

The distinguished physician took the last question first because it is the most often asked.

"There is absolutely no comparison between man and woman," he said. "Each has his or her own physical and psychological make-up and the two are as different as a cat and a dog. A man is controlled by the mastery or aggressive impulse. A woman is passive and receptive by nature. In primitive times man was the propagator, the provider; woman was the bearer, the receiver and the manager of children. Fundamentally they have never changed."

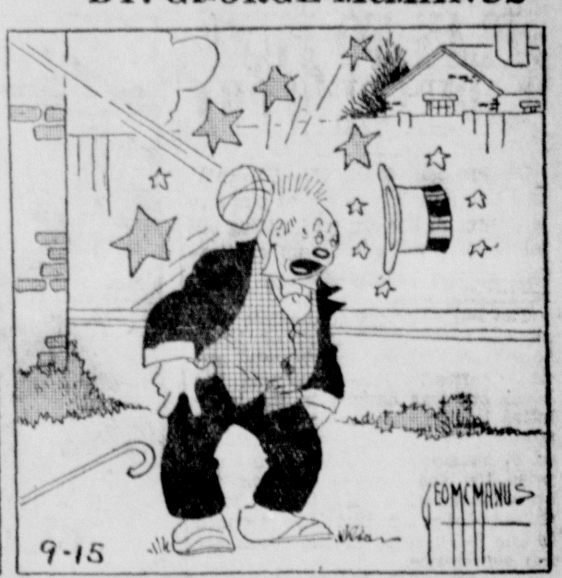

"But she does not mean that man is superior?"

"No, but there is no superiority in his own sphere. Man to his sphere, which is the sphere of the intellect, and woman to hers, which is the sphere of the emotions. The primitive woman was physically and psychologically different from the modern woman. She was a wonderful emotional nature, but she was not a mother. She was a mother for her child, which was the most important thing in her life."

New Air Mail Stamp Puzzling to People

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Uncle Sam's new five-cent air mail postage stamp, neat but not gaudy, as the saying goes, has the public wondering at what they constitute to be a picture of a lighthouse.

Evidently the puzzled public has never seen an airway beacon, for the center design of the red, white and blue stamp is not a picture of an oil derrick, a windmill tower or a lighthouse at sea, but it is a view of the highest airway beacon in the world, located on top of Sherman Hill 30 miles west of Cheyenne, Wyoming. Stands 10,000 feet above sea level and as the transcontinental mail planes cruise 100 miles an hour through the night, it points the way to Cheyenne's field which is 7,000 feet above sea level.

BIG NAVY MEN PLAN TO PUSH BUILDING BILL

Washington, Sept. 15.—Advocates of a big navy have evolved plans to jam through the cruiser building bill before the senate takes up ratification of the Briand-Kellogg treaty renouncing war.

The bill calls for immediate construction of 15 cruisers of 10,000 tons each, and an experimental aircraft carrier. It has passed the house but was caught in the legislative jam in the senate in the last session. The measure was advocated by President Coolidge as a compromise for the navy's program for an authorization of 71 new warships to bring up America's strength to the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington conference.

Appeal To President
Naval leaders have appealed to President Coolidge to recommend the 71-ship program in his final message to congress in December. He has talked over the question at Brule, Wis., with Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations. The navy thinks the bigger program would accomplish two purposes: First, give America a bargaining point with other sea powers at any future disarmament conference; and second, place America in a position to counteract any danger of a naval building race if naval limitation agreements fail.

Those who adopt this view do not want the 15-cruiser bill scrapped for the 71-ship measure. The latter is merely an authorization, or a "paper navy," which could be used as a big stick, if necessary.

The idea of getting the cruiser bill through the senate first is corollary to the larger ship program. The big navy spokesmen feel they would be in an unstrategic position if the peace treaty were ratified first. Peace advocates could say that with war outlawed by treaty between the sovereign nations of the world, there would be no need to increase the navy's side. Such arguments, in the opinion of naval people, might be hard to combat.

Preparedness Plans
Preparedness advocates have taken their cue from President Coolidge in reconciling naval expansion with the Kellogg anti-war pact. The president does not believe that the treaty bars preparations designed solely for adequate national defense. He approved the cruiser program as in line with the defense policy.

While practically all hands concede the Kellogg treaty will be ratified, there is a growing belief it may precipitate a vigorous and prolonged debate. It is certain the Anglo-French naval agreement will be discussed in connection with it.

POSSE TRAILS DERANGED MAN

Attacks on Women Brings Search; Capture Is Thought Near

Lancaster, O., Sept. 15.—Believed to be mentally deranged and of vicious proclivities, an unknown man who has perpetrated two attacks on women in this vicinity, was still at large today although grim-faced men were conducting a determined search with the expressed hope that "we'll have him by nightfall."

At 10:30 o'clock last night a man, masked with a red bandana handkerchief, entered the home of Mrs. Ravenna Hayes, 37, here, as she was ironing in the kitchen. The woman screamed as her assailant clutched her. Then she fainted.

Her screams reached her husband who was in an upstairs room. He rushed down but the masked intruder had become frightened and fled.

Daily Fashion Hint

SMART PRACTICALITY

Easy to make and practical as a sports and street frock is this model. Individuality is attained by the pleated section, inserted in smart diagonal outline in the right-front. The V-shaped neck is cleverly finished with revers, carrying out the note of tailored simplicity. Long one-piece sleeves with pointed cuffs, or short sleeves with turn-back cuffs may be used. Flannel or kasha makes this an appropriate costume for the first cool days, while in figured rayon or crepe de Chine with plain revers, cuffs and belt, it is very chic.

Pictorial Pattern No. 4248. Sizes 14 to 18 years and 34 to 44 bust, 45 cents.

Look tomorrow for the tiny jacket ensemble.

Four Townships Sunday School Groups Hold Rally

The Four Townships Sunday School association, consisting of 24 Sunday schools in Knox, Butler, Smith and Coshen townships, will hold its annual rally day tomorrow. More than 3,000 persons are expected to gather at their respective churches for observance of the day. Special programs have been arranged for each church.

Plans will be made at tomorrow's rally for the second annual autumn convention which will be held at the North Benton Presbyterian church, October 19.

The following are opinions of persons relative to rally day:

Everyone enjoys a 100 per cent attendance in all organizations, even families; hence it is an enjoyable occasion when a special day has been appointed for all members to attend together to enjoy each other's association.

Officers and teachers need the stimulus of the entire attendance to efficiency prepare and conduct the school and class.

James G. Eardley,
Secy. Sebring First M. E. S. S.

God has his rally days for the sake of nature. These change the face of nature from a bleak and barren waste to a beautiful harvest. The church needs its rally days to awaken and quicken each member and to bring every thoughtless man and woman into a life of service for Christ.

Rev. D. P. Shafer,
Supt. Church of Christ S. S. of Sebring

Vacation is over, you are back at work, but are you back at Sunday school? Your school has slumped because you have not been there. Sunday is Rally Day. Come to your Sunday school Sunday morning. Help to set a record attendance for which to strive. Start or strengthen a good habit and benefit yourself.

Lowell Randall,
Supt. North Georgetown Lutheran S. S.

All institutions and organizations have always observed gala days. Memorials are always sacred. To the church school the Fall Rally day has always meant a great beginning. The season itself is suggestive of a harvest. May it also mean a great ingathering in the work of the church. You, our friend, ought to go to your church Sunday school Sunday. Let's make this a real Rally Day. Vacations are over. Resolutions to do a great work in our various schools are in order. May your school not be disappointed in you.

S. H. Polloch,
Secy. Four Township S. S. Association.

Rally Day calls to our attention those of our neighborhood who are apparently indifferent to their religious condition. Rally Day arouses to common action our man power through who God works to bring them to a realization of their need of Him.

Mrs. Frank Fultz,
Supt. Winona M. E. Sunday School.

Why Rally Day
Summer stepped in and all outdoors called us. We went here and there, and forgot the Sabbath. We want to come back, but it is hard. Rally Day calls us. We hear. We come gladly Sunday school overflows. We again remember the Sabbath day.

Mrs. John G. Gibb,
Supt. Damascus, M. E. S. S.

The Why of Rally Day
At this time our minds are all centered upon the foremost topic of the Four Township association. Rally Day. Every member is thinking and planning how to boost our Sunday school membership. After all that is the real aim of Rally Day. From the oldest to the youngest we are asking our friends and acquaintances to help with their attendance to put this over.

Betty Hobson, Age 13, daughter of Carl E. Hobson,
Treas. Four Township S. S. Association.

Why Rally Day
This Sunday summons you to Rally. Not to the open road, not to the park, not to the golf course, not to the family reunion, but to the House of God, your church and Sunday school, that foundation stone on which our American nation was founded. Your financial support to the church is important, but far more important is your regular attendance. Friend, why have you chosen to live in a community well provided with houses for worship? You evidently prefer such a community. Rally Day suggests that you play fair by attending some school and church this Sunday.

Sumner Oesch,
President Four Township S. S. Association.

Rally days are not altogether modern devices. In Old Testament times they had their Rally Days and in the history of the Christian church they have been used to cheer and encourage the followers of Christ. In our day there is a special need for them. It has become one of the inevitable things that during the summer months there is a general let down in all departments of the church. Rally day comes with its special call to every member to return to their place and work in the church and Sunday school. With the publicity that is given and the enthusiasm that is aroused on impetus is given that makes it easier to fall in line. The rallying of the regular members will bring out some new scholar. With the increased number an enthusiasm starts the work with momentum that otherwise would not be obtained for months. Advertise the church and Sunday school as being awake to her opportunities and as appreciating the greatness and importance of the work. It secures the favorable attention of the public and strengthens its position in the community. The people need to be rallied. The welfare depends upon it. The work needs the rallying of the people and the glorious God will be enhanced by it.
